

June 7 Questions

- 1) The wise sayings and proverbs of Solomon. As Solomon counseled his own son, he remembered the teaching of his father David: “He taught me and said to me, ‘Let your heart hold fast my words; keep my commandments and live’” (Prov 4:4). This teaches us that a love of wisdom is passed on to the next generation mainly through the _____ attention that a _____ gives their child. We need to take _____ each day to impress on our children that there are two paths before them: the way of wisdom and the way of wickedness. We must channel their God-given desire for happiness and success into a pursuit of that which brings true satisfaction and fulfillment: _____ . Notice the verbs that Solomon used: ‘incline your ear,’ ‘when you walk,’ ‘let your eyes look forward,’ ‘keep hold,’ etc. He did this to show us that wisdom is about _____. It’s about making decisions and choices that please God. It’s not enough to simply know what is right; we must _____ what is right if we would be wise! Much of what Solomon taught his son had to do with the “_____ woman” (cf. Prov 5:1–23; 6:20–35), that is, the woman who is not _____. Solomon knew, of course, that his son would be attracted to beautiful women, and he did not condemn the sexual urge itself. Instead, he encouraged his son: “_____ in the wife of your youth, a lovely deer, a graceful doe. Let her breasts fill you at all times with _____ ; be _____ always in her love” (Prov 5:18–19). This teaches us that being wise is more than merely _____ ourselves forbidden pleasure. Rather, it is actively finding _____ in the many good things that God has given us. The question is this: will we _____ on what God has provided or will we _____ after what He has forbidden?
